

Five Years

Contributed by theartfuldodge

As some of you may know yesterday, November 19th, marked the fifth year of the war in Iraq.

Bush had a press statement in which he stated:

"The answers are clear to me. Removing Saddam Hussein from power was the right decision, and this is a fight that America can and must win".

I can't disagree with Bush more, the war in Iraq has been going on way too long... Yesterday there were a number of protests in Washington, and though I would of loved to have been there protesting I don't live in the U.S, so if anyone was there, how'd it go?

Anyone involved in any campaigns to end the war?
